The aim of the French social protection system is income maintenance ~~(Palier 2000: 116)~~ rather than the ~~It is more than~~ simple poverty alleviation ~~which is~~ found in the Anglo-Saxon system or universalistic distribution, which is representative ~~for of~~ the Northern Social-Democratic system ~~(Palier 2000: 116)~~. ~~Since the entitlement depends on the contribution history paid by workers, most benefits are earnings-related.~~

The French welfare state ~~is is largely~~ based on a set of non-state private agencies. There is both a compulsory scheme to which everyone must be affiliated as well as a supplementary scheme (couverture complémentaire or mutuelle) that covers costs that are not reimbursed by the general plan. ~~The~~ Sécurité Sociale (Social Protection) is a compulsory health insurance policy divided into four main sectors: 1) healthcare and work accidents/diseases; 2) health/illness/injury (including occupational Comment [A1]: Citations are conventionally positioned just before punctuation (commas, periods, semicolons, colons or question marks), regardless of what is being referenced.

Comment [A2]: This sentence marked a slight shift in theme from a general overview to a more detailed description of the system.

Comment [A3]: We added a qualifier based on the transformations.

Comment [A4]: This was repositioned because the Sécurité Sociale is described as the compulsory form.

Comment [A5]: Please note that we have amended these based on our own research. Unemployment is not one of the four main branches. Please see: <https://www.diplomatie.gouv.fr/fr/services-aux-citoyens/preparer-son-retour-en-france/assurance-maladie/article/la-securite-sociale>
